Biography: Councilwoman Lynn McClain

Lynn McClain has lived in Walhalla for five years and has been a South Carolina resident since 1973. She brings decades of professional and community service experience to her role on City Council.

Lynn spent more than 20 years at Clemson University, serving in roles that included plant and pesticide regulation, the President's Office, and the Development Office, where she was the primary fundraiser for the College of Agriculture, Forestry and Life Sciences. Her work allowed her to collaborate with senior executives, philanthropists, volunteers, and national and international grant organizations.

In 1998, Lynn became Executive Director of the Georgetown Hospital System Foundation, working closely with civic groups, hospital leadership, physicians, and grantors. After retiring from the hospital system, she continued her service through her church in Murrells Inlet before returning to the Upstate in 2016.

Deeply committed to community involvement, Lynn considers it an honor and a privilege to serve the City of Walhalla and its residents on City Council.
